

Your mission, should you choose to accept....

We need a superhero right now to help us. Can you be our hero?
Let's get the capes out!

Right now we are all working together to stop coronavirus from spreading. The good news is that germs can't jump very far! If we stay far away from people, then the germs can't jump from person to person and make us all sick.

We need you to maintain distance from others! Can you do it?

Can you remind everyone to wash their hands and maintain distance from others?

We would love to see videos of you superheroes acting out your new role!
